TITLE/SIGNIFICANCE:

Modified Commercial Vehicles of Southern Africa

COMMENT: CONF) A number of commercial vehicles are being modified with armor plates and anti-landmine kits. These vehicles are currently in use in the southern African countries of South Africa, Zimbabwe, and Namibia. They are relatively inexpensive and are considered expendable as long as they provide the occupants the required protection on a one time basis. OTHER EXAMPLES ON REVERSE OF PAGE.

(CONF) The following vehicles are pictured in this notice:

1. Hippo--probably a modified Bedford or Chevrolet Truck
2. Rhino--probably a modified Landrover
3. Leopard--U/I chassis powered by a Volkswagen motor
4. Bullet--probably a modified Landrover
5. Crocodile--U/I chassis, probably a 1 1/2-ton truck
6. Kudu--probably a modified Landrover
- 7+ Hyena--probably a modified Ford one-ton truck.
